KEY

CAPS The Joint (or Select) Committee on Statutory Instruments has drawn the House's special attention to the Instrument.

Italics A Motion for negative resolution has been tabled in respect of the Instrument.

§ The Instrument is laid before the House of Commons only.

U/lined Order laid under section 14 of the Legislative and Regulatory Reform Act 2006

Symbols relating to specific parts of the list are explained at the beginning of that part.

SECTION A

Bills and Acts of the Northern Ireland Assembly laid before Parliament under section 15 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998

Some Northern Ireland Bills and Acts are subject to negative procedure. Section 15 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998 provides for a period of 20 sitting days beginning with the day upon which the Bill or Act is laid before Parliament within which Members may give notice, as the case may be, that the Bill shall not be submitted for Royal Assent or that the Act of the Assembly shall cease to have effect. Twenty signatories are required for a motion to be effective.

Title of Bill or Act	Laid before the House	No. of days unexpired on date of issue
NIL

SECTION B

Treaties subject to negative resolution procedure

Some treaties are subject to negative procedure before they are ratified. Section 20 of the Constitutional Reform and Governance Act provides for a period of 21 sitting days (days on which both Houses sit), beginning with the sitting day after a copy of the treaty is laid before Parliament, within which either House may resolve that the treaty should not be ratified. There are provisions for the period to be extended and, if either House resolves that the treaty should not be ratified, a Minister may lay a statement indicating that he or she is of the opinion that the treaty should nevertheless be ratified (and why). If such a statement follows a resolution of the House of Commons that the treaty should not be ratified, this triggers a further 21-day period during which the House of Commons may come to the same resolution again.

Name of treaty	Laid before the House	No. of days unexpired on date of issue
Turkey (No. 1, 2012),—Agreement, done at London on 23 November 2011, between the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the Government of the Republic of Turkey on Military Cooperation (Cm. 8344)	3 May	15
France No.1 (2012),—Agreement, done at London on 10 May 2012, between the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the Government of the Republic of France on Implementation of the Cyclamen device in the French terminal of the Channel Tunnel situated in Coquelles (Cm. 8349)	14 May	18

SECTION G

Proposals for instruments subject to super-affirmative procedure

Some Acts require Ministers to lay proposals before Parliament for a certain length of time before laying draft orders taking account of any representations made during this period. This procedure is generally referred to as the “super-affirmative” procedure. This table also includes draft legislative reform orders (underlined) subject to super-affirmative procedure. The figures in the last column denote the number of days still to run including the day (when reckonable for this purpose) of publication of this list.
